About Centenary Celebrations

A moment comes in the history of every institution when it reaches a landmark in terms of its age and obviously such an event is solemnized with memorable accomplishments in terms of various programmes which have commemorative value and which reflects the legacy of the Institution in its various hues and colours in course of its evolution over the years. Centenary celebration is one such occasion for an Institution.

The dignity of such a prestigious occasion demands celebrations of those forgotten years which many of us have either not witnessed or forgotten. Celebration of such a momentous occasion gives us an opportunity to reflect upon our institutional success, achievements and glory and gives us an opportunity to work with more zeal to achieve larger public good and in effect become constructively instrumental in the nation building in our own way through silent but effective measures. This creates an opportunity for even the last man standing in the queue. Such an occasion also bestows us with an opportunity to introspect on our shortcomings as well as not so memorable moments and take corrective measures through effective analysis and its systematic implementation on the ground level.

-Atharvaveda14.1.6

Non-Collegiate Women's Education Board (NCWEB) has been silently contributing towards empowerment of women through education since 1944. At that time, the idea was to provide a platform to girl students to take examination with special coaching without attending regular classes. NCWEB is a constituent part of University of Delhi and is in a unique disposition to endow those who have the potential to change and give thrust to socio-economic development in the society through education. This institution has an arrangement where the girl students attend classes during Saturday / Sunday and academic breaks across the twenty-six Centers being run in the constituent colleges of University of Delhi for undergraduate courses and for post graduate courses, at the NCWEB Centre respectively. These Centers provide for library and other facilities besides utilizing the existing resources and infrastructure of the colleges. The Postgraduate Centre is a library located in the Arts Faculty Building, University of Delhi. The Board also gives financial aid and book loan facility to the needy and desirous students. At present, nearly 32,000 girl students are studying in the institution. Many among those who have studied in this institution have not only stood on their own but have also been pillar of strength to their families. This institution is dedicated to the cause of nation building by empowering those with education, who play a pivotal role in moulding the society.

About the Seminar

The 75th year of Independence from the colonial rulers is an opportunity to pay homage to those who sacrificed their lives for the motherland, venerate those who stood like rock against the hostilities of the invaders and memorialize those who dedicated themselves to build the nation post-independence. This momentous mark in the history of Bharat (that is India) is being commemorated as Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav by the Government of India. It is evident from the literature, history and ancient scriptures that the women played a pivotal role in the growth and progress of this nation. In ancient times, Women occupied a very important position. In Vedic times women and men were equal in many respects. Women were not just students but also teachers of sacred Vedas and also played a significant role in politics. It is evident from literature that extraordinary courage is displayed by women at times of war. The involvement and participation of women in the independence movement of India and post-independence, their contribution in framing the Constitution and nurturing the democratic values, is incredible and admirable. The seminar is an initiative to recall the role of women, who were architects in the making of Bharat, to know about their lives, struggles and contribution to their societies. It is an opportunity to acknowledge and appreciate the participation of women in the making of a new India from politics to education, economic growth, sports and technology in the past seventy-five years. In this Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav, let us remember and celebrate the zeal and rigour of such women through this seminar and mention their works, which have not been spoken and heard.

Significance of the Seminar

The primary objective is to bring wide information by revisiting the great contribution made by women in making Bharat and reaching the new India through understanding their influence on the freedom movement, making of Constitution and protecting the environment. The seminar will provide a forum for elite Professional to share their experience and research-based facts on the contribution of women in making of Bharat, their place in new socio-economic structure of this country and their participation and representation in modern India. In particular the seminar discussion will be focused on the role of women as from invisible architects to visible participants in the making of Bharat as a World power in 21st Century. To encourage regional and national communication and collaboration to empower women in each part of India; promote professional interaction and lifelong learning, recognizing outstanding contribution of individuals, encourage scholars to pursue studies in tracing the footprints of Indian women in making of Modern Bharat.
